

A final update from the Lower Otter Restoration Project

It has been quite a journey over many years, but we are pleased to be able to say that the final construction phase of the Lower Otter Restoration Project has now been completed.

We are very grateful for the support we have received, and would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your interest in the project.

Many subscribers to our updates have been with us for a number of years, while we have also picked up hundreds of new subscribers through the website as the project has progressed.

With the construction phase now over, management of the Lower Otter is in the capable hands of the Pebblebed Heaths Conservation Trust.

As such, future updates on the project as it evolves naturally, will be given by the Trust.

With that being the case, to comply with data protection regulations, and in line with our privacy and data policies, we will be deleting the project mailing list once this mailout has been completed.

You can sign up to the Pebblebed Heaths Conservation Trust newsletter here. The project website www.lowerotterrestorationproject.co.uk will no longer be updated, but it is our intention to keep it available online as a helpful public resource until the end of 2024.

We would like to thank you once again for your interest in the project, and hope you will find the time to sign up to the Pebblebed Heaths Conservation Trust newsletter so you can keep up-to-date with the latest Lower Otter news.